Probe Of Navy Department's Conduct Of War Is Ordered; Daniels Wants Investigation

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—Complete investigation of Rear Admiral Sims' charges against the navy department's conduct of the war will be made by a sub-committee, now including into the award of naval decorations, as soon as it completes its present task. This decision was made today by the full senate naval committee.

A motion by Senator Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, to have a separate sub-committee named to make an immediate investigation, was defeated. The action to have the present sub-committee conduct the inquiry was made by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana.

Chairman Hale said the committee could not complete its investigation of naval decorations in less than ten days and that the inquiry of Admiral Sims' charges would not be undertaken until the committee had made its report on the matter, now under consideration.

The inquiry into naval awards was resumed after the meeting of the full committee adjourned.

Admiral Sims was called to resume his testimony which started Saturday. Chairman Hale announced that as a separate investigation of the conduct of the war was to be made no evidence bearing on this subject could be heard now. Senator Pittman, who directed the examination of Admiral Sims, cautioned him not to comment on any matter not related to naval decorations.

Senator Pittman called the admiral's attention to the fact that some of his recommendations for decorations had been changed by the Knight Board and the Secretary Daniels. The witness replied that his criticism was not of the person who made the changes, but of the fact that they were changed.

Declaring that in order that there might be no reflection on the record of Commander D. W. Bagley, a capable officer, Senator Pittman read the report of the unanimous award by the Knight Board of a D. S. M. to Captain Bagley, commanding the coast guard cutter Tampah, sunk by a submarine on September 1918, with a loss of all hands. He compared the circumstances of those surrounding the loss of Commander Bagley's ship.

Senator Pittman then read the letter from Secretary Daniels to the admiral, outlining his reasons for awarding medals to the commanding officers of ships sunk by the enemy.

These sentiments, if maintained, would undermine any military organization," declared Admiral Sims. No recommendations, the investigating committee might make regarding award of decorations to officers would cause him to change his own recommendations, he added.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—Unless the senate investigation of Rear Admiral Sims' charges of failure of the navy department to cooperate fully with the allies during the war is made to the entire satisfaction of the American people, an inquiry will be made by a navy board, Secretary Daniels announced today. He added that his organization in the history of the world ever did a better job than the American navy.

WAR LORDS IN GERMANY MUCH WORRIED OVER THE DEMAND FOR EX-KAISER

GENEVA, Jan. 19.—A state of profound anxiety and astonishment reigns in pan-German circles in Germany over the official demand of the allies for the extradition of Holland of the former German emperor, according to a dispatch from Berlin, which is confirmed by Munich advices. The pan-Germans had hoped to the end that such a final step, which affects the whole case, would not be taken. The dispatch says, "They argue that if their former chief is extradited, no body will be safe, because the government's hand will be forced."

It is reported from Locarno that former King Ludwig of Bavaria, and learning of the demand for William Hollenlocher's extradition, broke out in a furious temper, condemning the act of the allies as impudent and impudent. Former Emperor Charles of Austria, who is at Frankfurt, has refused to express any opinion.

Meanwhile, the federal authorities and Swiss jurists are watching the negotiations carefully and several formally loyal federalists, ministers and politicians now in Switzerland are anxiously awaiting the Dutch decision.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 19.—Deep emotion has been caused in Holland by the allied demand for the extradition of former Emperor William of Germany, according to a dispatch. Relief is expressed at The Hague that measures will be taken with a view to inducing him to voluntarily place himself at the disposal of the allies.

HARDING WANTS NO LUKE WARM SUPPORT IN OHIO

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—Senator Harding, of Ohio, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, announced today that he could not accept "more perfunctory or complimentary" support from Ohio's delegation in the national convention. The senator said if there was any doubt regarding Ohio's real preference he would be glad to have an expression by the state voters in the primary election.

REMAIN TRUE TO CHURCH WORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Devotion to church art work here, to which he consecrated himself 11 years ago, has caused Theodore E. Tsavalas to turn down an offer of $200,000 to return to his native country, Greece, and paint a series of pictures for St. John's church in Marathon. Tsavalas has been painting the great murals and frescoes in the Greek church of the Holy Trinity in Seventy-second street, for 11 years, receiving no salary. Occasionally, the congregation is asked for a contribution for the artist and it is always generous.

Tsavalas voted to the bishop of the cathedral in Sparta, Greece, 11 years ago, that he would never return to Greece until he had completed the paintings in the New York church. The work was then expected to take 12 years. It will take three years more than was first estimated.

21 REPUBLICS REPRESENTED IN MEETING

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—Marked by the presence of the leading financiers and business men of the 21 republics of the western hemisphere, the second Pan-American financial conference opened here today for the consideration of international problems arising from the return of peace.

President Wilson from his sick room sent a message of greeting to the ministers of finance and other prominent visitors, declaring that the Pan-American congress sought no selfish purpose in assisting world reconstruction and would regard it as a privilege to fulfill the obligations imposed by the great advantages enjoyed by the people of these republics.

Secretary Lansing brought out the same idea in addressing the delegates when he said the Americans accepted the burdens thrust upon the new world by the war and would press forward confidently to the better days of the future.

"Attention of the Americans," "I regret more deeply than I can well express that the condition of our health deprives me of the pleasure and privilege of meeting with you and personally expressing the gratification which every officer of this government feels because of the presence at the national capital and particularly because of the friendly and significant mission which brings you to us."

"I rejoice with you that in these troubled times of world reconstruction the republics of the American continent should seek no selfish purpose, but should be guided by a desire to serve one another and to serve the world to the utmost of their capacity."

"The great privileges that have been showered upon us, both by reason of our geographical position and national development of every country of the American continent carry with them obligations, the fulfillment of which must be regarded as a real privilege by every true American."

"It is no small achievement that the American people are today able to say to the world: 'There is an important section of the globe which has today eliminated the idea of conquest from its national thought and from its international policy.'"

"The spirit of mutual helpfulness which animates the conference, supplements and strengthens this important achievement of international policy. I rejoice with you that we are privileged to assemble with the sole purpose of ascertaining how we can best serve one another, for in so doing we best serve the world."

BLAME PREMIER FOR LIFTING THE RUSS BLOCKADE

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The Times which ascribes the decision to require trade relations with Soviet Russia entirely to Premier Lloyd George, attacks him severely and says: "The statement that this decision was influenced by the attitude of the Bolshevik government is regarded as a palpable and insolent insult."

"The Times further contends that Lloyd and his colleagues will certainly size whatever goals are considered to be expedient and expressed the opinion that Mr. Lloyd George's record for home politics and advanced liberalism had more to do with the decision than the sound views of national advantage and national honor."

The Chronicle, which is a firm supporter of the premier, attributes the decision to the supreme council and says: "The premise that the council is dealing only with the cooperative societies and not the soviet government is a compromise."

"The Chronicle maintains the allies must make up their minds whether it is going to be peace or war with the Bolsheviks, and if not prepared for war, must without delay take the first step in making peace and not indulging in a miserable scramble of successive compromises."

Infante peace is coming, says the Daily News, which adds that starvation in Europe is forcing the allies to act hastily.

TEST SUIT ON NATION-WIDE PROHIBITION IS PERMITTED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—Validity of the federal prohibition constitutional amendment is to be determined by the supreme court, which today granted the state of Rhode Island permission to institute original proceedings to test it and enjoin its enforcement in that state.

The permission was granted by Chief Justice White without comment or without fixing any time for hearing arguments in the case.

Motions to bring the suit were filed by Attorney General Blue of Rhode Island, in response to a resolution adopted by the state legislature, authorizing him to take steps to test the validity of not only the amendment but also of the enforcement act.

In briefs, filed in support of the motion, Rhode Island authorities questioned the validity of the ratification of the amendment and alleged that the amendment was an interference with the state police powers and a violation of the fifth constitutional amendment. They also alleged that the amendment was "unconstitutional, unconstitutional and void."

Rhode Island was one of the states that refused to ratify the amendment. After the granting of the motion, Solicitor General King announced that he would prepare at once and file with the court a motion asking for the dismissal of the case for lack of jurisdiction. Under the court's rules, this motion can be argued so that it is possible for the court to expedite the entire proceedings by passing upon the merits of the case in deciding this motion.

HANGU, FINLAND, Jan. 19.—The train having aboard the Bolsheviks and the anarchists departed from the United States was held here last evening until positive assurance was given from the soviet that they would permit the party to cross the Russian border and that the deportees would not be molested. Great rumors had come from the border that Berkman and Goldman and their comrades would be killed by the Russians, and while there was apparently no authority to confirm this threat it was deemed advisable to take all precautions.

Albert Smith Is Feeling Like Old Self Now

When I was in a badly run-down condition when I started taking Taulagi, but after taking only two bottles I am feeling like my old time self," said Albert F. Smith, 517 Elm street, Toledo, Ohio, a brakeman on the Toledo-Ohio Central Railroad, recently. Continuing, Mr. Smith said:

"While I was not exactly sick, I was so badly run down for some time past a few days that I could not get on my feet and not like doing anything. My appetite was nothing like as good as usual. I did not relish what I ate and it did not seem to agree with me. I had no ambition and was sluggish and my work tired me so when I came out my run on the road I felt all fagged out and did not feel like going out of the house or doing anything but sitting down or going to bed.

"I had been reading so much in the newspapers about the good Taulagi was doing others I decided to give it a trial, and it surely went right after my case in a hurry. Before I had finished the first bottle I noticed I was getting back to my former good condition. Now my appetite has returned and I can eat anything I want and all I want without feeling any bad effects. I am completely over that tired, worn out feeling and come off the road after a hard day's work feeling just like I could still do another good day's work without stopping. I am gaining in weight so fast my clothes are getting too tight for me. I am going to take a few more bottles of Taulagi just to be sure I do not have a return of my troubles. It is surely a grand medicine, and I advise everybody who feels as I did to take it."

Taulagi is sold in Portsmouth by the Fisher and Strech Pharmacy and the leading druggists in every town.

"Haunted House" Razed

"The Haunted House of Hadden" for many years the home of the late Dr. Jacob H. Hadden, who for more than 40 years was a prominent physician in the village is being razed.

The house, a big double story frame and one of the landmarks of the village, where, according to many persons, that have occupied it, ghosts, spooks, spirits, etc., abound, was erected more than half a century ago and the mysterious walking of chairs and tables, "ghost" required no further inventive door raps, rattling of dishes and pans, removal of covers from persons occupying beds are some of the strange things associated with the haunted house in tales related by many. The appearance of the ghosts and mysterious noises at the place dates back only 25 years and during that time more than a score of different families have occupied the premises but only for brief periods as the appearance of the "ghost" required no further inventive for them to vacate, all deciding off of a reduction in rent as an inducement to remain and many declared they would not live in the house for love or money. Razed under the plan for living apartments by tales of "ghost" the property was sold to C. W. Brown at administrator's sale recently and the new owner decided he would settle the mooted "ghost" question by wrecking the house and the work is now under way.

WAS MANAGER OF PHILIPSBURG C. OF C.

In an article published in the Sunday edition of the Portsmouth Times, which referred to the appointment of J. N. Wiles as manager of the Portsmouth Chapter of Commerce, the following correction is herewith made at the request of Mr. Wiles:

The Times stated that Mr. Wiles had been manager of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, and also secretary of the Altona Chamber. It should have read, manager of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and city manager at the same place. Also Mr. Wiles was not secretary at the Altona Chamber, but was actively engaged in civic work and was an active worker in the Altona organization during the time in which he was engaged in railroad work in that city.

Harding as the Republican candidate for president and pledging the delegates and alternates from the district to the national convention to support Mr. Harding to the end.

"Every county in the district, composed of Adams, Brown, Clermont, Highland, Pike and Scioto, was represented by the county chairman and several delegates. As state central committeemen from the district, D. Q. Morrow, Highland county, formerly chairman of the Republican state central committee, presided.

"Congressman Charles C. Kearns, Clermont county, came on from Washington to attend the meeting. He voiced his hearty endorsement of Senator Harding's candidacy and predicted his nomination."

Elaine Hammerstein in "Greater than Fame"

Special Attraction At The Columbia Tonight And Tomorrow.

The buoyancy of youth and the greater than the fame for which she (Elaine Hammerstein) worked so untiringly and against such odds, is the theme of the picture. There are many dramatic moments in the picture, and Miss Hammerstein's talents as an emotional actress are brought into play in a manner that leaves no room for doubt as to her ability to portray roles of this character. In fact, it is the best picture she has appeared in, and will add new laurels to those she has already won.

A competent cast headed by Walter Connolly, Miss Hammerstein, and the stage settings and costumes are all that could be desired. No expense evidently was spared to make the picture as elaborate as possible.

"The Broken Butterfly" at Lyric, Today, Tomorrow and Wednesday. "You're the one who found me!" I will tell the whole village that you are a wicked woman—the mother of a little girl!" Maurice Tourneur, from the amazing Neustadt, the woman who played over her shame. A sensitive soul, striving for happiness, she had found love and had loved too much. "You will live a maid—and die a mother!"—the old gipsy fortune-teller had prophesied, and now it seemed that the dire prophecy was to come true. Taking her child in her arms, Maurice can from the house, through the blinding storm, and plunged into the black water of the raging river. But slither fate decreed that she should live and see her lover, the husband of her own sister, for the thought she had perished. What did they do when they found that Maurice still lived?

Picture an ambitious young girl with a shiftless father who is proprietor of a dilapidated hotel in a rundown health resort. No guests, no servants, no cook, no driver for the bus or the car, to meet the incoming ruins. And a rival hotel, more up-to-date, gathering in all the fine arriving guests. But Nancy drags out the old Ford (1902 Model) and fairly kidnaps a young man who carelessly allowed the other bus to get away from the depot. When the young man leaves hurriedly and Nancy's father dies after gambling away the new paying hotel, she finds herself with six thousand dollars life insurance and attends a young ladies' gymnasium to polish up. But how about her sweetheart? Well, she attends a ball game and then—well, then someone makes a three-base hit with two men on bases, and Nancy—well, you will find out when you see "Better Times."

MARTIN JOHNSON TULAGI

AWHITE SPOT IN A BLACK LAND Twelve white men daily risk their lives among more than 500 natives.

An Added Attraction at the Lyric Theatre Today, Tomorrow and Wednesday.

Nowhere in the world is the dominance of the white man over savages so well demonstrated as in Tulagi where twelve white men, who comprise the British Government officials and staff live surrounded by hundreds of natives who were a few years ago in the depths of barbarism.

The greatest difficulty is met with in restraining the native impulse to kill, but the Governor and the missionaries rule with an iron hand and have actually created a body of soldiers and created a government.

An interesting feature shown in the picture is the fact that more than one hundred natives are feeling the stern justice that comes with a civilization.

Civilization is slowly advancing there, but the few whites are ever on guard and a false step may at any time bring death. This subject presents a wonderful opportunity to study the early efforts of civilization influence on the savages.

With all the lack of civilization Tulagi is one of the most beautiful spots in the South Seas. Nature has clothed it so divinely here that it was only reluctantly that Mr. and Mrs. Johnson finally left this paradise for further explorations.

HOLLAND IS AROUSED OVER DEMAND FOR THE EX-KAISER

ALLIES TERM SURRENDER OF HERR HOHENZOLLERN INTERNATIONAL DUTY

BRUSSELS, Jan. 19.—Deep emotion has been caused in Holland by the allied demand for the extradition of former Emperor William of Germany, according to The Hague, that measures will be taken with a view to inducing him to voluntarily place himself at the disposal of the allies.

Termed "International Duty"

PARIS, Jan. 19.—Holland is told in the allied note demanding the extradition of former Emperor William that she will not fulfill her "international duty" if she refuses to associate herself with the entente powers in chastising crimes committed by Germans during the war. The text of the note sent to The Hague was made public today.

Paris Jan. 19.—In notifying by these presents The Netherlands government and queen of the text of Article 227 of the treaty of Versailles, a certified copy of which is annexed, which came into force January 10, the powers have the honor to make known at the same time that they have decided to put into execution without delay this article. Article 227 publicly arraigns William II of Germany for a supreme offense against international morality and the sanctity of treaties and declares the allied and associated powers will address a request to the Netherlands government for his surrender in order that he may be placed on trial.

"Consequently, the powers address to the government of The Netherlands an official demand to deliver into their hands William of Hohenzollern, former Emperor of Germany, in order that he may be judged."

Individuals residing in Germany against whom the allied and associated powers have brought charges are to be delivered under Article 228 of the peace treaty and the emperor if he had remained in Germany would have been delivered under the same conditions to the German government.

Recalls Harshities

The Netherlands government is content with the incontrovertible reasons which imperiously exact that "unmediated violations of international treaties, as well as systematic disregard of the most sacred rules and rights of nations should receive no respite anywhere, including the highest moral personalities, special punishment provided by the peace congress, the powers briefly recall, among so many crimes the cynical violation of the neutrality of Belgium and Luxembourg, the barbarous and pitiless system of hostages, deportation en masse, the carrying off of young girls from the city of Lille, who were torn from their families and delivered defenseless to the worst promiscuity, the systematic decastation of entire regions without military utility, the submarine warfare without restrictions, including the abandonment of victims on the high seas, and innumerable acts of non-combatants committed by German authority in violation of the laws of war.

Responsibility, at least moral, for these acts reaches up to the supreme head who ordered them or made use of his full powers to induce, or as to allow infringement upon, the most sacred regulations of humanity.

The powers cannot conceive that government of The Netherlands regard with less approbation than involve the immense responsibility of the former emperor.

FARMERS PLAN NEW PROGRAM ON TAXATION

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 19.—A new taxation program, sponsored by the "Cornstalk Club" in the legislature, was in prospect today.

Leaders of the rural forces in the lower house of the general assembly were preparing to conduct the attempt to break the Smith one percent law by proposing legislation to impose additional taxes on cigarettes and other non-essentials and adopt measures for forcing intangible wealth on the tax duplicate.

The house and senate will meet at 5 o'clock today. The joint committee on taxation may report out the Gardner bill, which amends the Smith one percent law. Another caucus of Republicans of the house will be held before the bill reaches a vote.

J. J. Taylor, master of the state grange, has declined appointment on the legislative advisory committee from the Republican state central and advisory committee, it became known today.

MILLER AND NEW FRENCH PREMIER

PARIS, Jan. 19.—Captain Andre Thorel has refused to retain the portfolio of minister of liberated regions in the new Millerand cabinet. In reply to M. Millerand's request, that he remain in office, Captain Thorel has said that during the last few days both chambers of parliament have shown their wish to appeal to new men and that therefore he is unable to accept the premier's invitation.

Changes in French diplomatic assignments are expected to result from the election of M. Deschamps as president. G. P. Alapetite, minister to Spain, may become governor of Alsace, Paris and Henri Alliez, head of the Paris and Henri Alliez, head of the French special mission to Vienna, is being considered for the Madrid post.

On the other hand, the Excelsior says it is probable Charles C. A. Jonart may succeed Alexandre Millerand, the new premier, as governor of Alsace-Lorraine.

Millerand's cabinet will hold its first meeting at the new premier's home at 4 o'clock this afternoon. It will then be introduced to President Poincare, who will sign the decree of nomination, which will be promulgated in tomorrow's Journal Officiel.

LABOR WILL OPPOSE ANTI-SEDITION MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Formal announcement that the American Federation of Labor would oppose with vigor any measure which would curtail the rights of labor in the event of a strike, was made today by Samuel Gompers, president of the federation.

The attack of organized labor, its chief spokesman, will be directed against the Stetson bill, recently passed by the senate, and against the Graham measure, based on suggestions of Attorney General Palmer and awaiting action by the house rules committee for a special rule to expedite consideration.

Referring to the two measures as one bill, President Gompers declared his sentiment "would violate the constitution and rob the American people of their most cherished and basic guarantee of free government."

MANY CASES OF FLU ARE REPORTED

HAVANA, Jan. 19.—Many cases of influenza have been reported in this city, but no authoritative statistics are available. A newspaper report states that 120 cases have been found here, but this assertion has not been corroborated.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—A corps of 100 volunteer nurses today engaged in the combat to check the spread of influenza here. Operating from eight dispensaries, the "nursing militia" began a survey of the city to determine the extent of the epidemic and to aid in relief measures.

While 1200 cases have been reported to health authorities early today, it was said that fewer cases were reported in the last 24 hours than during the preceding two days. Health department officials said the majority of the cases were mild. Fourteen deaths from pneumonia and five from influenza were recorded yesterday.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—Influenza in a form so violent as to baffle the medical authorities, is sweeping through Poland, according to American Red Cross reports. The disease is marked by the suddenness of attack and the high percentage of fatalities. Hundreds of persons are dying daily in Warsaw, the reports show, while three-fourths of the hospital attendants have been stricken.

WARSAW, Jan. 19.—Terms for concluding peace with the Bolsheviki have been fixed by the Ukrainian government, according to Lemberg newspapers. They include recognition of the independence of the Russian people's republic, exchange of prisoners between Ukraine and Russia, complete neutrality of Ukraine and withdrawal of all soviet forces from the territory of that republic, and recognition of the Ukrainian government, with M. Magara as premier.

OPENING STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Another record covering movement, based in part on last week's favorable bank statement, caused a further general rally of leading issues at the opening of today's stock market. Motors, oils, chemicals and equipment led the movement at prices of 1 1/2 to 2 points, with shipbuilders and several of the low priced bills and specialties, including Columbia Graphophone. Part of the advance was reduced, however, within the first half hour.

Army Transport With 500 Aboard In Distress At Sea

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The army transport Powhatan, in distress about 700 miles east of New York, reported by wireless to the army transport office here at 4 a. m. today, that although she was leaking and her boiler room flooded, she was in "no immediate danger." The 500 passengers were "calm and comfortable," the message said. When the sea becomes smoother the passengers will be transferred to the White Star liner Celtic, which is standing by. The transport will keep aloft for several days, Captain Randall wireless.

The United States shipping board steamer Western Comet, which is among the vessels nearby, will attempt to tow the Powhatan to Halifax, the nearest port, after the passengers have been transferred to the Celtic. The British steamer Hardie, bound from London to New York, is another vessel standing by. The Powhatan left New York last Friday for Antwerp. First news of the accident was received Sunday afternoon when 809 calls were sent out.

REDS FEAR DEATH FROM COMRADES

HANGU, FINLAND, Jan. 19.—The train having aboard the Bolsheviki and the anarchists departed from the United States was held here last evening until positive assurance was received from the soviet that they would permit the party to cross the Russian border and that the deportees would not be molested. Grave rumors had come from the border that Berkman and Goldman and their comrades would be killed by the Russians and while there was apparently no authority to confirm this threat it was deemed advisable to take all precautions.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—The Bolsheviki are now being fixed by the Ukrainian government, according to Lemberg newspapers. They include recognition of the independence of the Russian people's republic, exchange of prisoners between Ukraine and Russia, complete neutrality of Ukraine and withdrawal of all soviet forces from the territory of that republic, and recognition of the Ukrainian government, with M. Magara as premier.

In exchange the communist party will enjoy full exercise of its rights in Ukraine, on condition that it will not attempt to monopolize power.

THE FIGURES ARE ASTOUNDING

THE statement, made in The Times a few evenings ago, that Portsmouth pays far more per capita for automobiles than does New York, was so apparently extreme that many doubted its accuracy.

Well, a part of the figures on which the statement is based, are official and a part of them are just as reliable as the other. According to federal statistics, gathered as census data, New York spends on an average for each person $1.38 per head on automobiles. Taking New York at her largest figures that would be a total for the city of something short of ten million dollars.

By official figures, Portsmouth has 4,300 automobiles. A reasonable average cost of maintaining and operating them is $150 per annum. That would mean a total cost of $645,000. Portsmouth claims a population of 40,000, so that would put the per capita cost at $16.50, or even more than ten times that of the New York average.

On the face the figures seem incredible, but considering the conditions they are reasonable enough. New York has a congested population and violent extremes. She has more rich people and more poor ones than any other city in the land. Professed authorities say half her inhabitants are foreigners, who have not learned the language of the country. Of course, few of those have progressed to the auto owning stage. Another great obstacle to ownership is sufficient and convenient storage room. As against this, two-thirds of the families in Portsmouth own automobiles, no matter as to whether they are able to or not. Ohio stands third in the number of automobiles owned by her citizens. Were the average of the whole state as great as that of Portsmouth she would be in a neck race with New York State for first place. So Portsmouth stands excessively high in the number of automobiles operated and New York excessively low.

IN THE MATTER OF TELLING

THE difference between stating a truth and telling the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth often makes for the difference there is between falsity and truth, as evidenced by the way in which various newspapers handled the vote of the students in the referendum, submitted to colleges on the peace treaty.

Scarcely one, in headlining the news, used such language as would give a clear idea of the result.

A large number, for instance, stated "The Students Declared Against League of Nations" and here and there was the raucous cry: "Colleges Against Wilson's Treaty."

Now, it isn't a lie to say students were against league of nations, for that colleges were against Wilson's treaty, as some, though in altogether exceptional instances, were. But the thought, the purpose, was of the whole and not of the separate individuals, and the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the whole truth is that plurality for approving the treaty as against the unconditional rejection of it was as about five to one. Therefore, the body of students, as a body, were overwhelmingly in favor of a league of nations. As between unconditional acceptance of "Wilson's Treaty" and unconditional rejection of it, the affirmative was far and away in the lead. In the summary, and appearing as the dominant feature, the acceptance of the treaty, with the so-called mild reservations, had three times as many votes as any other of the four propositions submitted.

It does not seem an unfair inference from all the figures and the course that the fight over the adoption of the treaty has taken, that the student body is in a state of deep disgust and recognizing that nothing more can be expected of the opposition, it is willing to get the treaty matter out of the way by such concessions as will not altogether avoid it.

THE MARRIED AVERAGE MAN

"Yes, it is," he replied, looking at her with a smile. "But don't you think it's a bit late for a new car? I thought you'd be satisfied with the old one for a while longer."

"No, no, no!" she cried, shaking her head. "I want the new one. It's just what I need. I've been thinking about it for weeks. It's a real beauty, isn't it?"

"Yes, it is," he replied, looking at her with a smile. "But don't you think it's a bit late for a new car? I thought you'd be satisfied with the old one for a while longer."

"No, no, no!" she cried, shaking her head. "I want the new one. It's just what I need. I've been thinking about it for weeks. It's a real beauty, isn't it?"

old's satisfied, what more is necessary? I asked.

"To have her satisfied," said Athena crisply. "I told you she's refused him. But, of course she doesn't mean it. Have you spoken to her?"

Athena nodded vigorously. "That's the very point, dear. She says she won't marry a man who doesn't work hard—who hasn't a real ambition. Wouldn't that suit you? Now, do you see why I'd rather like Katie for a daughter-in-law?"

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—A page from the diary of a modern Sumner Tappan, up while the changes went on and read my journal until the cook came and then with Don Byron, the tale writer, to the lounge where he sat for Porto Rico and all the day said that this friend came to go there and that one another place and yet I must remain at my tasks all my days.

Dr. Elias, the physician, called me in his gasoline wagon and carried me through the town and we fell into a high discussion over medical theories, as we always do, but parted four friends, he promising to send me a bunch of venison. It came into my head today to give my wife, poor wretch, a fine gift and I hunted through the trailing places but the prices were too steep so I paid five shillings for a mossy to carry home.

Home and ate alone and then I saw Miss Yvette Gillet's new school for play actors and a great lot of notes there, the idea being as each making as if they had returned to earth to reopen his academy of pantomime. For Gilbert, I deem as great as Duse or Bernhardt and Clayton Hamilton, the critic, both agree with me.

All the afternoon at my typing machine and with a fine piece of prohibition which has so many come sales and late came Dr. Statten and Dr. Higgins, who brought their coachman a tubular fellow to my quarters and all very ugly with the dressing, drunken fellow who had the reddest nose I ever saw alight he had great difficulty in a silk hat and Prince Albert coat.

In the evening to the display of red coats and came within a very close of buying a high priced wagon, which would have been a fine one for me, but I was too busy to look at it. I went where I made shift to stumble a little but was awake most of the night.

BILLY WHISKERS

When Billy Whiskers boiled the man at the soda fountain in the town, each and bowed him over, the catastrophe frightened the girls and boys who had been staring at him and laughing at the man, and there was a mad scramble to get out, but Billy was too quick for them. He wheeled round and butted the tail end of one fellow's coat so hard that it sent him flying through the open door and out into the road, where he landed in a mad tumble.

Then he turned and went for the girls who were all huddled together against the wall, screaming and crying with fright. He walked up to them. As they saw him coming, they thought their time had come and threw up their hands to cover their eyes and screamed louder than ever. But he only took a bunch of green wax grapes out of the hat of one of the girls and commenced to chew it, and he would have left them alone but one of the boys who was with them came to their rescue and tried to drive Billy away by giving him a hard blow with a chair. He had picked up. This infuriated Billy and he turned and went for the boy, who was holding the chair high over his head ready to strike. Billy struck his long legs into the boy's chest and laid him flat on the floor in an instant. Then Billy walked up on him and planted his two feet on the boy's breast while he lowered his head, looking the boy's face all over with his tongue. This made the boy furious, but he could do nothing as the coat was heavy, and with his weight on his chest, he thought he would smother.

By that time the soda fountain man had recovered his breath and came at Billy again with his beam raised, ready to strike. Billy saw him coming and left the boy he was standing on, and ran behind one of the tables. Then the chase began: round and day Journal (London).

WHO'S WHO In The Days News

A. V. LUNACHARSKY

A. V. Lunacharsky is a unique figure in the cabinet of Premier Lenin. A man of good Russian family, the son of a state counselor, he is tall, with shoulders beginning to droop, silky beard and mustache, of mild appearance, speech and manner. He dabbles in art and fairly excels in softness and ease. This, perhaps, is why he is at the head of the department of education and has been responsible for a number of the most enlightened decrees that have come out of Russia providing for the free education of the whole people. While they have been very admirable on paper, it is a question whether or not practice will show them to be as effective as they seem.

By issuing them, Lunacharsky has alienated the sympathy of the hitherto most revolutionary body, the Union of Russian Teachers.

Lunacharsky, however, has been instrumental in bringing back Gorki, if not as a Bolshevik sleep, at least into the Bolshevik fold. Gorki now directs a bureau of literature in Petrograd, where, talented but starving members of the aristocracy and the intelligentsia are engaged in translating William Morris and Ruskin for the education of the proletariat.

Lunacharsky, too, has been useful to the Bolsheviks in another respect. When it was found that the Bolshevik persecution of the church was creating a bad impression among the workers and the peasants, Lunacharsky, as an original adherent to the orthodox faith, was called upon to pour oil upon the troubled waters and to start a "Bolshevik" movement beside the church itself. In the autumn of 1918 he engaged, therefore, in a number of public "disputes" with the more liberal priests of the orthodox church, at which each side was allowed to state its own case. It was on one of these occasions that Lunacharsky made his famous speech in which he compared Lenin's persecution of the capitalists with Christ's expulsion of the moneylenders from the temple, finishing with the startling declaration that "if Christ had been alive today He would have been a Bolshevik."

"Oh, never mind the rule," he interrupted. "Just tell me which is correct—I shall marry you or I will marry you?"

"Neither," she answered promptly. Cincinnati Post.

Tarry Ye Here
An English vicar and his curate had quarreled and the latter was requested to find some other congregation to minister to. The curate thereupon preached his farewell sermon at the parishioners came in crowds to hear him. "My text," he said, "is taken from the moving story of Abraham: 'Tarry ye here with the ass while I . . . go yonder!'"

Almost as Good as a Failure
To instill into the mind of his second son wisdom and business principles was Cohen senior's earnest endeavor. He taught his offspring much, including the advantages of bankruptcy, failures and fires. "Two bankruptcies equal one failure, two failures equal one fire," etc. Then Cohen, Jr., looked up brightly.

"Father," he asked, "is marriage a failure?"

"Well, my boy," was the parent's reply, "if you marry a really wealthy woman, marriage is almost as good as a failure."

A woman hailed a taxicab coming for in the excited manner customary with many of her sex, but the car did not stop until some of the people inside had called attention of the conductor to the fact that the woman wished to enter. As she got in the taxicab she glanced at the man indignantly.

"Why didn't you stop the car for me?" she snapped.

"How was I to know you wanted to get on?" asked the conductor.

"Of course. Could anyone help seeing you?"

Four Firemen Badly Hurt When Pumper And Truck Collide

Two Machines Crash At Gallia And John Streets

THE INJURED
Four firemen were injured, two seriously, and the pumper of the Seventh street company and the truck of the East End company were seriously damaged, and put out of commission when they collided with terrible force at Gallia and John streets, at 9:30 Sunday night.

James Riggs and Assistant Chief R. L. Shumate, of the East End company, were seriously injured, but will recover, according to physicians. Assistant Shumate said today at Portsmouth Hospital, where the men were rushed shortly after the accident. Louis Ellis, veteran fireman, was not badly hurt and probably will leave the hospital today. Captain Zuhars suffered bruises when thrown from the back end of the pumper, but was not incapacitated from duty.

When an alarm was turned in from box 52 in front of the Standard Supply Company's building on Gallia street at 9:25 last night, the pumper of the Seventh street company and the East End company quickly responded. The pumper, manned by Fred Thomas, the driver, who shared the front seat with Captain Zuhars and Captain Billy Williamson and Louis Ellis on the rear end, was driven east on River street, and after reaching Gallia street, the act of swinging the pumper east, on that street when the big truck of the East End company came thundering along west on Gallia street. R. L. Shumate was at the wheel of the truck. Instinctively the drivers realized that an accident was inevitable. Both machines were moving so swiftly that they had no chance to prevent collision and the ponderous pieces of fire fighting equipment crashed into each other, head-on. The crash was heard for more than a square mile from a large crowd collected.

The force of the impact was sufficient to hurt Riggs from the front seat of the truck. He was picked up by Charles O. Metcalf, Portsmouth fireman, and taken to the hospital. It is a serious condition. Shumate was pinned against the steering wheel of the machine and had a close call from being killed outright. Fred Thomas, driver of the pumper, was tossed from his seat, but his body cleared the wreckage, and he escaped with bruises and a shaking up. Captain Zuhars was also thrown to the ground but was not seriously hurt. Captain William not seriously hurt. Captain William and Louis Ellis were thrown off of the back seat of the pumper when it careened toward the sidewalk. Ellis thought he had been killed, but he was in a semi-conscious condition for some time, but he recovered. There is some doubt about the condition of the driver, who has been injured. The accident occurred at a busy intersection. The pumper was moving east on Gallia street, and the truck was moving west on Gallia street. The truck was carrying a large load of lumber. The collision occurred at the corner of Gallia and John streets. The pumper was driven by Fred Thomas, and the truck was driven by Fred Thomas. The accident occurred at 9:30 Sunday night.

DRIVER GIVES HIS VERSION OF ACCIDENT

"When I saw the truck from the East End company I was within 20 feet of it. I tried to stop my machine, but I had no chance, and then I turned east on Gallia street in an effort to dodge the truck, but the street was not wide enough and the machines collided," Fred Thomas, driver, said this morning at the Seventh street house. When asked if it were true that he had misread the alarm and was turning east on Gallia instead of west, Mr. Thomas said, "I had intended to turn west on Gallia, but as the truck approached I tried to stop my machine. When I saw I could not do this, I then attempted to turn east and then the collision resulted."

Thomas has been in the fire company two years. He was formerly employed in the Solway plant.

RIGGS THINKS HOODOO IS AFTER HIM

James Riggs, of the East End fire company, who suffered a compound fracture in the fire department's serious wreck Sunday night, believes that he is followed by some sort of a hoodoo.

Within six weeks Riggs has suffered injuries in three accidents while on duty. Early in December he suffered serious injuries about the head and shoulders when he fell from the back of the fire truck as it was having the engine loused. He tried to jump on the truck and missed, his foot fell against the edge of a door.

Christmas morning, while fighting fire on Front street, he fell from the roof of a kitchen and suffered a severe bruise on his head, which kept him off the job several days.

His worst injuries were sustained last night when his leg was broken above the knee and just above the ankle. Sunday night's accident was a double misfortune to Riggs, for he lost his pocketbook containing $10, when the truck crashed into each other. Riggs would greatly appreciate the return of the money.

SHORTAGE IN PRODUCTION OF FOOD CAUSED BY WAR NOT YET MADE GOOD

LONDON—The shortage in production of food caused by the war has not yet been made good, and is not this country got as much meat as they likely to be in the next year, suggested Charles O. Metcalf, Portsmouth fireman, who is the most critical since the commencement of the war with regard to supplies and prices of both butter and cheese. The dairy product of Australia would be much below normal owing to drought.

There was no prospect of world's supplies of sugar being increased, he said.

As regards wheat there was a surplus in the country at the present time, but it should not be inferred from this that there would be no difficulty as regards the most serious situation in the coming year. In Europe, owing to the ravages of war, the wheat harvest would be down about 25 per cent. It was evident, he said, that the people of Europe would not be able to eat as much meat as they had in the year before the war.

Mr. Metcalf understood that the requisitions from France, Belgium and Italy at present amounted to between 100,000 and 150,000 tons. He did not know.

All are invited to attend these meetings. One came forward to the altar last night and there were a number of requests for prayer.

DOWNFALL OF PRESENT GERMAN GOVERNMENT LOOMS NEAR

Dispatches telling of the latest rioting in the German capital, which brought about a declaration of martial law throughout Germany by the Ebert government, depict conditions which indicate that the present Ebert government is nearing its end. It was freely predicted when the armistice was signed that the government officials who "kneled to the allies" could not long hold sway. Premier Ebert of the Ebert cabinet shocked official circles during the rioting when he announced that Independent Socialists members of the assembly motioned the mob into action from one of the windows of the Reichstag. In proclaiming martial law President Ebert announced that Minister of Defense Gustave Noske had been made commander in chief of all armed forces in the empire to handle the situation.

TAKE STEPS TO OPEN SOUTH AMERICAN MARKETS

VALPARAISO—Italy, France and Sweden have taken steps to open South American markets by establishing steamship lines to Chilean ports. One Italian steamship company, composed of the Trans-Atlantic Italian and the National de Navigation, already has two steamers to Chile by the Panama route. It is announced that the company intends to add two more steamers to the line, making a total of six passenger and six freight vessels which will voyage alternately by the Straits of Magellan and the Panama canal.

The government of Chile has agreed to subsidize these ships by payment of 700 pounds for each cargo shipped and 500 pounds to each passenger and freight vessel.

More recently the Italian Navigation company has sent to Chile its steamer La Valparaiso. The Company's General Transatlantic announces that direct communication will be established between Valparaiso and Valparaiso by way of Panama by the use of the steamer San Luis. The Swedish company has resumed service to Chile and there is talk of a Dutch line of steamers to be run by the way of Australia.

As a result of these activities, freights have begun to decline. This has stimulated the commerce of all the west coast and especially the exportation of nitrate and the animal product products of Chile.

WAS MANAGER OF PHILIPSBURG C. OF C.

In an article published in the Sunday edition of the Portsmouth Times, which referred to the appointment of J. B. Wiles as manager of the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce, the following correction is herewith made at the request of Mr. Wiles:

The Times stated that Mr. Wiles had been manager of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, and also secretary of the Altona Chamber. It should have read, manager of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and city manager at the same place. Also Mr. Wiles was not secretary of the Altona Chamber, but was actively engaged in civic work and was engaged in railroad work in that city.

Fire Scare At Y. W. C. A.

A fire scare at the Y. W. C. A. caused a great deal of excitement in that institution Sunday morning, although there was no fire. A gas pipe in the basement had sprung a leak. Attaches of the building could not stop it, and were afraid the building would fill with gas and that there would be an explosion, so an alarm was turned in at 6:45. The fire companies from the Seventh street and East End houses answered the alarm. The firemen stopped the leak and set at once the pipe of the frightened occupants of the "Y. W."
